Student United Way seeks ways to spend $25,000

Youth Allocations grant applications available for schools, organizations to address key issues facing Logan County youth

BY THE EXAMINER STAFF

Twenty-eight students from seven Logan County high schools are halfway through their Student United Way experience. Now comes the hard part.

After three half-day sessions in which they were exposed to the human service needs facing Logan County, the group identified the six they observe as the most critical affecting youth. Now they're looking for projects to support with the $25,000 they have to spend from the fall United Way campaign.

Local schools, organizations, churches, and government entities are encouraged to apply for a United Way Youth Allocations grant by the April 4 deadline for consideration.

"We hope to receive ideas that are practical, things that are actually going to work, that will make a difference and will help with the subjects we picked out that we think need the most help," said Allison Culp, a senior at Indian Lake High School.

The students collaborated to finalize their grant criteria this week and are now accepting requests for funding for programs that serve Logan County youth under 18 in the areas of:

- Mental Health, such as but not limited to High School Challenge Days, counseling and outreach so students know where to turn for help, training for school staff to better support students, peer support for youth.

- Substance Abuse, such as but not limited to engaging public speakers, anti-drug and alcohol education, prevention, peer support for youth, support for students whose parents/family use drugs, DARE, Neighborhood Outreach Centers.

Activities, such as but not limited to low-cost, safe activities and events.

- Disabilities, such as programming designed to inclusively serve those with physical or developmental disabilities.

Applications are available online at www.uwlogan.org or by calling (937) 592-2886.

"Student United Way," is United Way of Logan County's youth leadership development program. So far this spring, students have completed a Poverty Simulation, toured the Discovery Riders therapeutic horse farm, and learned about financial literacy at Richwood Bank. Along the way, their eyes were opened to how domestic violence tears families apart. And they discussed how prevalent mental health and substance abuse concerns are among their peers.

"It's pretty crazy how much you learn from Student United Way, because you have all these people in your community that are doing programs that you never even knew about, and helping people who you didn't know needed help," said Gretchen Wilber, a senior at Benjamin Logan High School.

Officers arrest motorist

A West Liberty motorist was arrested Thursday after he was stopped for the second time in three days for driving without a license.

David J. Moden, 25, of 128 1/2 W. Baird St., West Liberty, was stopped at 12:45 a.m. after an officer of the Bellefontaine Police Department observed him driving his car with expired registration in the 2300 block of south Main Street.

The officer was familiar with the car and Moden as he had stopped the motorist on March 8 and issued him traffic citations for no operator's license and expired registration. He had warned the motorist at the time of further consequences if he continued to drive.

Thursday, Moden was taken into custody and lodged in the Logan County Jail on additional citations for no operator's license and expired registration.

Man lodged for domestic violence

Justin Reilley, 31, of 313 Lawrence St., was charged Wednesday with domestic violence.

Amber Glass, of the same address, told officers the two began arguing around 7:30 a.m. and he allegedly put her in a headlock from behind and began choking her. She was able to defend herself by reaching behind Reilley and pulling a clump of hair from his "man-bun."

She had visible signs of injuries. Officers report her 9-year-old daughter corroborated her story and evidence at the scene supported the victim's claims.

Reilley was arrested and lodged in jail.

Father violates CPO

Jeffery J. Castallante, 29, of 304 Race St., DeGraff, was charged Tuesday with violating a protection order. He attended a school function at Bellefontaine Elementary School, 1001 Ludlow Road, involving his son.

Under the terms of the Hardin County civil protection order, he was to leave the property when he saw his ex-wife, Julia Castallante, of Bellefontaine. He was issued a summons for the violation.

Warrants served

Officers served warrants to:

- Mike L. Catterson, 59, at large: failure to appear; and
- Gregory L. Vickers II, 30, of 136 N. Hayes St.: two counts of failure to appear.

about the community and different aspects about how people are helping other people is really cool," said Andrew Hughes, a senior at Benjamin Logan High School.

"I think we as humans work best helping each other, instead of trying to go alone. So when someone has an issue, seeing how United Way helps them and how they fund other programs for people who need help is eye-opening but really cool to be a

Students participating in Student United Way this year include:

- Montana Buck, Morgan Burden, Beau Salyer, and Carter Snapp from Bellefontaine High School.
- Allie Henault, Andrew Hughes, Parker McGowen, and Gretchen Wilber from Benjamin Logan High School.

BLES 4th-graders draft classroom legislation in civics lesson

BY THE EXAMINER STAFF

Ohio fourth-graders are expected to understand that our society is based on the rule of law and that the United States Constitution establishes the framework for our government.

To that end, Bruce Smith's fourth-graders recently formed their own government. After a hard-fought but civil campaign, Owen Marshall won the position of Grand Poobah, chief executive.

The balance of the class served as senators and representatives in the bicameral legislature. Mr. Smith reserved the role of the judiciary for himself.

The fourth-graders drafted their first piece of legislation and signed it into law. The students felt that a problem existed with school supplies and other debris littering the classroom floor at the end of the day.

"House Bill 1" provides for shared responsibility for house cleaning, and it provides a way for lost items to be reunited (albeit with a fine) with their rightful owner.

Other ideas for legislation include a healthful snack bill and an opportunity to host a Madagascar hissing cockroach, suitably housed in a small aquarium, on one's desk for part of a day.

Harley Alloway said he enjoyed creating and thinking about laws, while Shelby Siefing found the writing process rewarding. A number of students learned that achieving consensus is not easy. Jenna Reidmiller said that, "The most difficult thing for me was getting people to listen and work together."

In the end though, as Avery Rogers stated, "Teamwork makes the dream work."

National School Breakfast Week celebrated at Ben Logan

BY THE EXAMINER STAFF

Benjamin Logan Schools is joining other districts around the country in celebrating National School Breakfast Week.

Benjamin Logan Middle School fifth-grader Lauren Snyder was recently interviewed by Sonja Frederick, district director of nutrition. Lauren stated that the reason why she eats breakfast every day at school is because sometimes she doesn't have time to eat at home.

"By eating breakfast everyday it makes me feel good, I am not hungry throughout the day," she said.

The school breakfast project was first pushed by Kentucky Congressman Carl Perkins, who was worried about children going to school on an empty stomach. He proposed serving free breakfast to school-going children from low-income families. It took months, but in 1966, Congress launched a two-year pilot project known as the "School Breakfast Program."

The permanent adoption of the program happened in 1975 following incredible popularity across the country. National School Breakfast Week was officially adopted in 1989 to raise awareness about the success of the program and the steps that still need to be taken.

According to the USDA website, prior to the pandemic in 2019, more than 90,000 schools/institutions served school breakfasts to 14.77 million students each day.

Studies show that children who eat breakfast are known to have: better grades and test scores, more energy, increased memory and improved attendance and behavior.

Third-graders showcase biography projects

BY THE EXAMINER STAFF

Bellefontaine Intermediate School third-graders completed an interesting writing project last week.

Students in Mrs. Mifsud's, Mrs. Stahler's, Mrs. Pulfer's, and Mr. Crabill's classes shared their biography projects with each other in the school cafeteria.

The pupils worked on the projects for several weeks.

Initially, they chose a person to research, made a presentation to share with others, and created a pop bottle project about their person.

The projects were briefly displayed in the cafeteria.

Each pop bottle project was put in a showcase at the school.

Bellefontaine High School future engineers participated in the TEAMS competition earlier this month.

TEAMS (Tests of Engineering Aptitude, Mathematics, and Science) is an annual science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) competition that challenges high school student teams to work collaboratively to solve real-world engineering challenges, applying their math and science knowledge in practical, creative ways.

It is a collection of collaborative skill-building activities with teams of four students with three parts including design and build, multiple choice problems, and an essay. The scores from all three parts will be combined to determine rankings at the district and state level.

BHS had four teams this year including Milah Hunt, Audrie Sellars, Ellie Lloyd, Azlynn Bechtel, Sam Moreland, Beau Salyer,

Lakers' Jackson to play football at Wittenberg

BY THE EXAMINER STAFF

Luke Jackson has been a three-sport standout at Indian Lake. He has now picked one to continue to play in college.

Jackson recently announced his intentions to play football for Wittenberg University, an NCAA Division III program located in Springfield.

Jackson has lettered in football, basketball and baseball for the Lakers, but football is his first love.

"Luke was Mr. Versatile," said Indian Lake head football coach Jonn Rapp. "His knowledge of football allowed our offense and defense to overachieve because he could play so many different positions at such a high level.

As a senior defensive

back, Jackson was named the Central Buckeye Conference Mad River division defensive player of the year. He was also named first-team all-Southwest District and first-team Division V all-Ohio as a defensive back.

Jackson did it all for the Lakers this past season. He ran for 739 yards and seven touchdowns on 98 carries, caught 18 passes for 382 yards and three touchdowns and completed 12 passes for 184 yards and two touchdowns.

On defense, he piled up 110 tackles including 42 solo stops. He also recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

He earned first-team CBC honors as a junior and was special Mention as a sophomore.

Jackson will take his defensive skills to Wittenberg and play as a safety for new coach Jim Collins.

"Wittenberg was one of the first camps I went to and I really like the campus," said Jackson. "The facilities are the most impressive ones I've seen. They just had a coaching change and I really have a good connection with the coaches. We clicked pretty well and our energies really match."

Between being close to home, but not too close and knowing people on the Tiger team, Jackson felt Wittenberg was the best fit for him.

He plans to study sports management and hopes to become a graduate assistant coach after his playing days. His ultimate goal is to become a college football coach.

Indiana rallies from 17 down in 2nd half to knock off Michigan in Big 10 tourney

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Trayce Jackson-Davis scored 19 of his 24 points in the second half, Xavier Johnson had 17 points, eight rebounds and seven assists and No. 9 seed Indiana closed on a 31-9 run to rally past eighth-seeded Michigan 74-69 on Thursday in the second round of the Big Ten Conference tournament.

Michigan led by 17 points on an Eli Brooks basket with 12:52 remaining but the Wolverines would not make another field goal until the 1:42 mark.

Jackson-Davis made two free throws with 5:39 remaining in the second half to give Indiana its first lead, 63-62, since it was 7-6 with 15:50 remaining before half-time. The free throws capped a 20-2 run that saw Jackson-Davis throw down two momentum-changing dunks on back-to-back possessions, off nice assists from Trey Galloway and Johnson.

After Michigan missed its 13th straight shot, Jackson-Davis scored in traffic in the lane for a 71-64 lead with 1:53 left. DeVante' Jones ended Michigan's slide with a runner in the lane and Brooks added a 3-pointer in transition two possessions later to pull within 71-69.

Michigan forced Indiana into a tough contested shot and got the defensive rebound but threw it out of bounds with 10.9 seconds left. It was Michigan's 10th turnover of the second half. Johnson was fouled and made two free throws for a 73-69 lead.

Indiana (19-12) advances to play top-seeded Illinois in the quarterfinals on Friday.

Jones scored 18 points for Michigan (17-14), which had its 14-game winning streak in the opening game of the Big Ten tournament snapped. Brooks added 17 points and Hunter Dickinson scored 13 of his 15 in the first half.

Michigan went on an early 17-3 run to build a 21-10 lead as Indiana made just four of its first 16 shots. The Wolverines led 41-28 at halftime with a 23-14 edge on the glass and 11-2 advantage at the free-throw line. Dickinson and Jones combed for 25 first-half points, nearly outscoring the Hoosiers.

Play ball: Owners, players end lockout

NEW YORK (AP) — Major League Baseball's acrimonious lockout ended Thursday when a divided players' association voted to accept management's offer to salvage a 162-game season that will start April 7.

Owners approved the five-year labor contract with a 30-0 vote, and MLB formally lifted the lockout at 7 p.m. on its 99th day.

"I am genuinely thrilled to say Major League Baseball is back and we're going to play 162 games," Commissioner Rob Manfred said. "I want to start by apologizing to our fans. I know the last few months have been difficult."

MLB's roster freeze, imposed when the work stoppage began on Dec. 2, was to dissolve immediately, allowing Freddie Freeman, Carlos Correa and more than 100 other free agents to sign contracts.

Training camps in Florida and Arizona will open Friday, and the mandatory reporting date is Sunday. Exhibition games will begin March 17 or 18.

Fans can start making plans to be at Fenway Park, Dodger Stadium and Camden Yards next month. Opening day is being

San Diego Padres left fielder Allen Cordoba passes a logo for Play Ball, an initiative from Major League Baseball and USA Baseball, during the fifth inning of a baseball game against the Colorado Rockies on June 3, 2017, in San Diego. Players voted Thursday to accept MLB's offer on new labor deal, paving way to end 99-day lockout and salvage 162-game season. (AP PHOTO/GREGORY BULL, FILE) planned a little more than a week behind the original date on March 31.

The deal brings several major changes to the sport — a universal designated hitter, an expanded post-season and measures to disincentivize so-called "tanking." Most of the labor fight centered on the game's core economics.

The 184 games canceled by Manfred were instead postponed, with the regular season extended by three days to Oct. 5. Approximately three games per team will be made up as part of doubleheaders.

With pitchers Max Scherzer and Andrew Miller taking prominent roles as union spokesmen, players twice allowed management deadlines pass to salvage the original March 31 opening day, then let this Tuesday's deadline for a 162-game schedule go by.

After narrowing the economic gap this week, MLB made another offer Thursday afternoon, saying this was the absolute, final, last moment to play 162 games and preserve full salary and service time.

Teams moved toward middle ground between themselves and the players. The union's executive board approved the offer on a 26-12 vote. A person familiar with the balloting said, speaking to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity because no announcement was authorized.

Players' pictures that had been scrubbed from the league's website were restored at 7 p.m. sharp. Teams tweeted videos and statements celebrating the lockout's end and sharing info about buying tickets for the new opening day.

"The deal pushes the game forward," Yankees pitcher Gerrit Cole, a member of the union's executive subcommittee, said in an telephone interview with The Associated Press. "It addresses a lot of the things that the players in the game should be focused on: the competitive integrity aspect of it."

Playoffs will expand from 10 to 12 teams, with two division winners receiving first-round byes and the remaining four teams in a best-of-three wild card round in each league.

The deal allows teams to have advertising on uniforms and helmets for the first time and could lead to a pitch clock and limits on defensive shifts in 2023.

"I love our game," Manfred said. "Having said that, since I've been commissioner, I've talked about the need to make changes in some of our rules to enhance the entertainment value of our product for the benefit of our fans. And I think the new agreement opens up an opportunity that we can work with the players to make sure that we can make good rule changes that work for our fans."

The agreement calls for the luxury tax threshold to rise from $210 million last year to $230 million this season and gradually to $242 million in 2026, a loosening for the biggest spenders such as the Yankees, Mets, Dodgers and Red Sox.

Tax rates remain unchanged at the initial threshold, second and third thresholds. A new fourth threshold, aimed at billionaire New York Mets owner Steve Cohen, has tax rates of 80% for the first offender, 90%, for the second and 110% for the third.

The agreement allows training camps to open Friday in Florida and Arizona, more than three weeks after they were scheduled to on Feb. 16. Players can begin reporting Friday, with training cut to about 28 days rather than the usual 42 for pitchers and catchers.

Fleetwood, Hoge share early lead at storm-delayed Players

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Tommy Fleetwood needed a round like this. He has gone more than two years without winning, falling so far down the world ranking that he narrowly stayed in the top 50 at the cutoff to qualify for The Players Championship.

Amid two delays, one timely par save and plenty of good shots along the way, Fleetwood opened with a 6-under 66 to share the lead — for now — with Pebble Beach winner Tom Hoge.

And now he waits. Maybe until Saturday.

The PGA Tour's premier event with a $20 million purse got off to a stop-and-go start because of storms Thursday and a dire forecast for Friday. Only 66 players finished the opening round. Twelve didn't even hit their first tee shots.

"I've got a full round in today. I don't know when I'll play next, but I'm happy. I'm done," Fleetwood said. "I've had a really good day. I can sit on that. I can feel happy with my work and go from there."

The PGA Tour enjoyed

ideal weather with no delays for nine weeks in four states across five time zones to start the year. And for the richest event in golf, with the strongest and deepest field of the year, it barely got started.

More than an inch of overnight rain delayed the start by an hour. Storms in the area resulted in another delay of more than four hours.

Jon Rahm finally got his short game and putting to behave, and it carried him to a 69. Particularly pleasing was his birdie-par-birdie finish. Someone asked if he could take that momentum into tomorrow.

"First of all, I don't even know if I'm going to play tomorrow," he said.

Fleetwood, a Ryder Cup star in Paris in 2018 whose last victory was in South Africa toward the end of 2019, returned from the long delay to make a 10-foot birdie putt on the par-5 second hole for his third birdie in a row.

Hoge had an eagle on the par-5 second hole, his 11th of the round, and shot 31 on the front nine to join him in the clubhouse at 66.

Keith Mitchell was poised to join the until his approach to the 18th was right of the flag and landed on the slope of gnarly rough in the mounds, and he failed to save par. He was at 67, along with Riviera winner Joaquin Niemann, Anirban Lahiri and Joaquin Niemann.

The stop-and-start nature might not be over.

The forecast called for a slightly lower chance of rain Friday — 99% instead of 100% — and there was a chance those who finished the round might not see the course again until Saturday.

Six players from the early side of the draw did not finish, meaning they return at 7:15 a.m. Friday to play one or two holes before getting the rest of the day off.

Ian Poulter can rest easy, even if it takes time for his heart rate to steady. The 46-year-old could sense the horn about to sound to suspend play for darkness. By rule, players can finish the hole that anyone in the group has started.

Poulter was on the tee at the par-3 17th, the island green with a back pin and soft greens, when he fired his shot and barely saw it land 4 feet from the cup.

He jogged all the way to the green, holed the birdie putt, ran through the tunnel beneath the bleachers and onto the 18th tee. He hit his tee shot as the group in front cleared out of the way from the fairway.

He did the same thing 11 years ago and doesn't appear to have lost a step.

Even with only 66 players completing the round, that was enough time for the Stadium Course to provide its share of thrills and spills, mostly the latter.

Harold Varner III, needing good results to stay in the top 50 and make his win in Saudi Arabia pay off with a trip to the Masters, had a two-shot lead when he stepped to the 17th tee. His shot spun sharply down the slope, across the light cut of rough and into the water. His next shot from the drop zone nearly did the same. He made triple bogey, dropped another shot on the 18th and shot 69.

"Just was in between clubs and didn't execute the shot, and that's what you get a lot out here," Varner said.

Amazingly, that was the only ball in the water out of 69 tee shots.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS | FROM KING FEATURES SYNDICATE

Moon Alert: After 2:30 a.m. EST there are no restrictions to shopping or important decisions today. The Moon is in Cancer.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Friday, March 11, 2022:

You have an innate wisdom, which makes you caring and compassionate. You are intuitive and emotionally sensitive. You often have many things going on at the same time in your life. This is a slower-paced year. It's a time to rest and rejuvenate yourself. It's time to concentrate on your needs and what brings you happiness.

The Stars Show the Kind of Day You'll Have: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

★★★ Your focus is on home and family today. (You might cocoon at home.) Nevertheless, this is a good time for you to formulate goals and actively pursue them. Athletics and physical activity with friends and groups will pump your energy. Tonight: Family surprise.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

★★★ Because you identify strongly with whatever you're doing now, in addition to which your ambition is aroused, this could create conflict with co-workers. Possibly they are threatened by your efforts to get ahead. Tact is your best choice today. Tonight: Sudden change.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

★★★★ You have the energy to do a lot of creative, intellectual work right now. This is a good thing. You might even influence others when it comes to sharing your thoughts about social issues, philosophy, religion or politics. If shopping today, stick with practical items. Tonight: Protect your assets.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

★★★★ The Moon is in your sign today, which gives you a slight edge over all the other signs. Why not test this and ask the universe for a favor? Meanwhile, disputes about jointly-held resources, shared property or how to deal with a limited amount of money might arise. Check your ego at the door. Tonight: Restless!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

★★★ You need some quiet time today. If you can find solitude in beautiful surroundings, give yourself this pleasure and luxury, because you need to catch your breath. While Mars is opposite your sign, relations with partners might be testy! Tonight: Practice patience.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

★★★ Respect your need for more sleep now, because this is a fact. Ironically, Mars is actually giving you energy to work hard, which might fool you into thinking you're invincible. A heart-to-heart conversation with someone might be important today. Tonight: A new friend?

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

★★★ People notice you today! They might be talking about you, especially about the personal details in your private life. Lately, it's a bit challenging to gather the necessary discipline to work, because you would rather play and do exactly what you want to do. Tonight: Listen to authority.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

★★★★ This is a supportive day for you, because the Moon is in your fellow Water sign. Meanwhile, you want to do something different! You want to explore new ideas and meet people from different backgrounds because you have a desire to expand your world. You want to shake things up a little!

Tonight: Travel changes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

★★★★ The tempo of your everyday life has certainly picked up lately. Fortunately, your energy is high, and you can handle this faster pace. However, because you identify strongly with your ideas and your opinions now, you might be argumentative. Tonight: Check your finances.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

★★ Today the Moon is opposite your sign, which means you have to go more than halfway when dealing with others. This means you have to be cooperative and tolerant. Demonstrate grace under pressure. Meanwhile, be smart and use your own possessions to get things done. Tonight: Patience.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

★★★★ Once every two years, fiery Mars is in your sign. That's what's happening right now for this month. The upside is it gives you a chance to show the world what you can do. The downside is you might be coming on too strong for others. Tonight: Interruptions.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

★★★★ This is a fun-loving day for you. If you can socialize with others online or in person, by all means, do so. You will enjoy romantic contacts, as well as playful activities with kids. You have a strong need to talk to others now because you have something to say! Tonight: Plans change.
