United Way moves into new offices

BY THE EXAMINER STAFF

For a decade, the United Way of Logan County called the Marketplace, in downtown Bellefontaine, home.

One was one of the original Small Nation renovation projects, the "City Centre Mall" as it is sometimes known, served the non-profit organization well.

This week, the United Way marked the move into a new location at 653 S. Main St., Bellefontaine (across from Wendy's).

The agency is looking forward to working with its new partners, Patrick and Jenna James, Tyler Thompson, and the team at P. Allan Properties.

"Our new space will enhance our operation," representatives said. "It includes a conference room to conduct organizational meetings, private meeting rooms for confidential conversations with clients, individual offices for staff, a large parking lot, and signage on Main Street.

"Better yet, as we are always mindful of keeping administrative expenses low, overall monthly rent and utility costs actually decrease, thanks to the generosity of P. Allan Properties."

Bellefontaine's boys track and field team placed first and the girls squad was second in a quad meet with Kenton, Perry and Arcadia on Wednesday.

The Chieftain boys accumulated 128 points, Kenton had 86, Perry 47 and Arcadia 3.

"It was a great start for our boys," said BHS head coach Ben Davis. "We had several career bests. We will be improved overall from last year with many contributors."

Winning events for the Chiefs were the 3,200 relay of Patrick Donnelly, Gannon Purcell, Gavin Wilson and Connor Skidmore (8:57.20), Kailyn Organ in the 100 (11.27) and 200 (23.46), the 400 relay of Organ, Ethan Yoder, Collin Deitsch and Max Varner (45.72), Jaquan Mundy in the 300 hurdles (42.54), Skidmore in the 800 (2:10.66), Ethan Akers in the shot put (44-4), Yoder in the long jump (21-4.75) and Deitsch in the high jump (5-8).

In the girls meet, Kenton won with 97 points, Bellefontaine was second with 81, Arcadia took third with 32 and Perry was fourth with 13.

"We had many solid performances across the board," said Davis. "With so many young faces our improvement should be great."

NCAA president decries pace of basketball investigations

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — NCAA President Mark Emmert said investigations into allegations of major violations against several high-profile men's college basketball programs — including 2022 Final Four participant Kansas — have taken "way too long."

What solutions might be on the table to speed it up, Emmert did not say, but there appears to be increasing acknowledgement that the current process is broken.

"It's just been really slow in getting through that new independent process that's wound up reinvestigating the entire case," Emmert said, referring to the Independent Accountability Resolution Process (IARP).

The IARP was created out of proposals from the commission led by former U.S. Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice in 2018 to reform the sport. It began looking into allegations against Kansas, Arizona, LSU, Louisville and North Carolina State on the heels of a federal investigation into corruption in college sports that resulted in convictions of shoe company executives, a middle man who worked with them and some assistant college coaches.

Of those FBI cases nearly five years ago, only one -- North Carolina State, tied to its recruitment of one-and-done star Dennis Smith Jr. -- has actually gone through the IARP system to completion and received a ruling that resulted in probation for one year, some vacated victories and penalties for previous coaches.

The four other cases are still pending in the IARP structure, while Auburn went through the more traditional process and received four years of probation in December from an NCAA infractions committee panel.

In the meantime, this year's NCAA Tournament could be tainted should Kansas win the national championship and subsequently have an unfavorable decision come down in a now half-decade-old investigation.

Created to handle complex cases, the IARP includes independent investigators and decision-makers with no direct ties to NCAA member schools, and rulings cannot be appealed.

Emmert said NCAA institutions need to come up with a process that has "got to be fair. It's got to be swift. And it's got to not punish the innocent. ... That's where the membership's got to be in all of this, as they shape a new process or rebuild the one that's in place."

Final Four gets experience boost from transfer portal, COVID

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A bunch of one-and-done phenoms brought together by Kentucky coach John Calipari stepped onto the floor into the spotlight of the cavernous Superdome 10 years ago, oozing with the kind of NBA potential that made it clear their college basketball careers were about to end at the Final Four.

Anthony Davis, Michael Kidd-Gilchrist and the rest of them went out on top, too, beating Kansas in the Big Easy to deliver the Wildcats their eighth national championship and Calipari the first of his career.

Fast-forward to the present, and the return of the Final Four to New Orleans, and there is a much more old-school feel to the national semifinals as each of the the participants — Duke, North Carolina, Kansas and Villanova — benefited in one way or another from COVID-19 waivers, medical redshirts and the explosion of the transfer portal.

"It's the oldest that college basketball has ever been," acknowledged Duke coach Mike Krzyzewski, "so as a result of that, it's going to be tougher to win. I mean, I think (Shane) Battier played the most games here, 130-something. We're playing against guys that have played 160 games, sometimes three of them are on the other team. That's a lot."

Indeed, all four teams in the Big Easy have the kind of savvy veterans once seemed endangered in the world of big-time college hoops, and together they are proving on the game's biggest stage that experience still matters.

"That's why we shouldn't be shocked at anything that's happened in the tournament," the retiring Krzyzewski said, "because the age differential is so dramatic. For us, it's been dramatic."

Yes, the Blue Devils are the voungest team in New Orleans, but everything is relative. They still feature senior Joey Baker and fifthyear senior Theo John, who began his career at Marquette and is about to play in his 162nd game.

The experience has paid off. Young, talented teams such as Memphis were bounced early out of the NCAA Tournament, while hardened teams such as Providence, Saint Peter's and Miami made runs into the second weekend.

"It takes a significant amount of time to get everyone to buy into your program," explained Jayhawks coach Bill Self, who has had more success with veteran teams than with one-and-dones such as Andrew Wiggins and Joel Embiid.

"But," Self cautioned, "I would say that talent plus experience is what wins."

Good luck finding a team more experienced than Kansas.

Backup guard Jalen-Coleman Lands will play in his 171st game spanning stints at Illinois, DePaul and Iowa State when the Jayhawks face Villanova, trailing Iowa's Jordan Bohannon and USC's Chevez Goodwin for the most in Division I history.

— Mitch Lightfoot will play in his 167th game and second Final Four after making it with the Jayhawks in 2018.

 Arizona State transfer Remy Martin and big man David McCormack will have surpassed 130 games by the time their season ends, while All-American guard Ochai Agbaji is about to play his 121st game for Kansas.

In fact, the Jayhawks' top eight scorers have appeared in 965 games almost certainly a record for a Final Four team.

Maybe for any team.

The Jayhawks aren't alone. Brady Manek spent four seasons at Oklahoma, transferred to North Carolina for one more, and will play in his 160th game against Duke in the second semifinal Saturday night. Villanova has two players, Collin Gillespie and Jermaine Samuels, who have played more than 150 games apiece, and two more who have topped 100.

Over the years, the Wildcats have become the poster program for winning with experience.

When they captured the national championship in 2016, they had four starters that had played at least 100 games, led by seniors Ryan Arcidiacono and Daniel Ochefu. The top six scorers on coach Jay Wright's 2018 title team, which romped past Lightfoot and the Jayhawks in the Final Four,

Knox uses 4-birdie run for a 1-stroke lead at Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Russell Knox recorded four straight birdies on the back nine and fired a 7-under 65 on Thursday for a one-shot lead after the opening round of the Valero Texas Open.

Knox closed out his round with a seven-foot putt to save par at the par-5 18th at TPC San Antonio, and was one shot ahead of Rasmus Hojgaard.

Hojgaard fired a 66 despite a double bogey on his final hole. Matt Kuchar is another stroke back after an opening 5-under 67 and is among a group that includes Denny McCarthy, Aaron Rei and J.J. Spaun.

Defending champ Jordan Spieth and Rory McIlroy finished at evenpar 72. They were outside the top 60 after one round and could flirt with the cut line on Friday.

had a 1-over 73. After holing a bunker shot for eagle on his 11th hole and following with a birdie on the next, he made bogey on four of his last six holes. Knox, a 32-year-old Scotsman with two career PGA Tour wins, started his birdie streak at No. 12. All of his birdie putts were inside 10 feet. At the 15th, he was about 20 feet away from a back pin position following his approach and chipped in from the fringe. It was his second chip-in in the round.

"That was one of those kind of bonus birdies that you need when you're going to have a good day," Knox said. "Obviously thrilled with the round. It's been more of the way I want to play."

Hogjaard, a 21-year-old from Denmark and two-rime winner on the European Tour, had his sights on the first-round lead heading to his closing hole. But, his drive sailed well left of the fairway. It took him four shots to reach the green on the par-4 ninth.

"I had to chip sideways back into the fairway," he said. "Just was a little too aggressive after that. Yeah, short-sided myself and I didn't get up and down and suddenly you walk away with double-bogey. Yeah, that was a bit annoying, but it happens."

Kuchar was 5 under after 11 holes. Thirty feet away from the pin on the next hole, he failed to get up and down and missed a seven-foot putt for par. He got a shot back with a birdie on his 14th hole, and parred out, falling short in a bid to match his season-best round of 64 at the Sony Open, where he finished in the top 10.

"A lot of good and bad that can happen here on this course," Kuchar said. "I was kind of managing early on in the round and then found a little something on about the fifth or sixth hole. I started having some birdie chances and converted on a few late in my first nine."

Ex-minor leaguer ran major league sports betting operation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former minor league pitcher ran a major league illegal sports betting operation in California that used other former pro athletes to take bets and took wagers from players still in the game, federal prosecutors said Thursday.

Wayne Nix, who threw for Oakland Athletics farm teams, used his connections to recruit three former Major League Baseball players and a former profootball player as fellow bookies, prosecutors said.

The MLB began looking into the matter when it learned of it Thursday, but was unaware any of those involved other than Nix, a spokesman said.

Court records offered no names of the players who worked for Nix or those who placed bets with his business, but they provide a glimpse of the kind of money being wagered, earned and lost.

A professional football player paid Nix $245,000 for gambling losses in 2016.
