Is it the cheese? The sauce? Your favorite toppings?

Satisfy your cravings on the 2024 Logan County Pizza Trail

BY SHARYN KOPF
EXAMINER STAFF WRITER

"When the moon hits your eye like a big pizza pie" might be amore. But most of us prefer to have a pizza hit our tastebuds. Pizza hasn't always been an American favorite, but, now that it is, most of us are fans of that cheesy, saucy pie.

Whether it's for lunch, a birthday party or your regular Friday night staple for dinner and a movie, pizza is here to stay. With that in mind, the Logan County Visitors Bureau has created the 2024 Pizza Trail.

Similar to their ice cream and coffee trails, this tasty adventure sends participants to 13 mouth-watering stops around the county.

Though the bureau has done the other trails for a few years now, this is their first time with pizza. Actually, for the last two years, they've done a pizza bracket to go with March Madness.

"People enjoyed the bracket, but the businesses wanted to switch it to a noncompetitive thing," Anna Loudon, visitors bureau director, said. "So we reached out to every locally owned pizza place in the county."

Those that responded and wanted to be a part were added to the list.

If you haven't done a visitors bureau trail yet, here's the drill:

First, grab a passport. These are available at the bureau office vestibule at 100 S. Main Street, Bellefontaine, which is open 24/7, or at any of the participating restaurants listed below.

Second, and this is the best part, eat pizza. Technically, you don't have to choose pizza. But

Student creativity took the center stage over the weekend at the Logan County Music and Art Festival, featuring a wide variety of artwork created by local pupils in grades K-12, and an honors band concert performed by the top student musicians in the county.

This was the second year that the festival was staged at the Holland Theatre and hosted in conjunction with LoCo Art, a fitting collaboration and venue to enable the young creative arts-minded students with the chance to showcase their talents in a professional setting. Art and music participants represented Bellefontaine, Benjamin Logan, Calvary Christian, Indian Lake and Riverside school districts.

"LoCo Art is thankful to the Holland Theatre for welcoming the Logan County Music & Art Festival for the second year. Sharing the theatre's space to house the art exhibition and giving student musicians the opportunity to perform on the stage is a treat for all involved," LoCo Art Co-Director Jennifer Davis said.

"LoCo Art's mission is to make art free and accessible to all youths, and I think this event really makes that happen,

Retrial underway for ex-corrections officer charged in Ohio inmate's death

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Jury selection has started in the retrial of a former corrections officer charged in the death of an inmate at a county jail in northern Ohio. Mark Cooper faces a reckless homicide charge and two counts of involuntary manslaughter. The charges stem from Cooper's alleged role in the September 2019 death of 28-year-old Alexander Rios at the Richland County jail. Cooper's first trial last November ended in a mistrial when jurors could not reach a verdict. Jury selection started Monday and was expected to continue Tuesday. Rios fell unconscious during a struggle with guards and after being shocked with a stun gun. He died at a hospital eight days after the confrontation, which was captured on video shot by jail staffers.

Only 26% of Americans say they get at least eight hours of sleep, new Gallup poll says

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're feeling — YAWN — sleepy or tired while you read this and wish you could get some more shut-eye, you're not alone. A majority of Americans say they would feel better if they could have more sleep, according to a new poll.

But in the U.S., the ethos of grinding and pulling yourself up by your own bootstraps is ubiquitous, both in the country's beginnings and our current environment of always-on technology and work hours. And getting enough sleep can seem like a dream.

The Gallup poll, released Monday, found 57% of Americans say they would feel better if they could get more sleep, while only 42% say they are getting as much sleep as they need. That's a first in Gallup polling since 2001; in 2013, when Americans were last asked, it was just about the reverse — 56% saying they got the needed sleep and 43% saying they didn't.

Younger women, under the age of 50, were especially likely to report they aren't getting enough rest.

The poll also asked respondents to report how many hours of sleep they usually get per night: Only 26% said they got eight or more hours, which is around the amount that sleep experts say is recommended for health and mental well-being. Just over half, 53%, reported getting six to seven hours. And 20% said they got five hours or less, a jump from the 14% who reported getting the least amount of sleep in 2013.

(And just to make you feel even more tired, in 1942, the vast majority of Americans were sleeping more. Some 59% said they slept eight or more hours, while 33% said they slept six to seven hours. What even IS that?)

THE REASONS AREN'T EXACTLY CLEAR

The poll doesn't get into reasons WHY Americans aren't getting the sleep they need, and since Gallup last asked the question in 2013, there's no data breaking down the particular impact of the last four years and the pandemic era.

But what's notable, says Sarah Fioroni, senior researcher at Gallup, is the shift in the last decade toward more Americans thinking they would benefit from more sleep and particularly the jump in the number of those saying they get five or less hours.

"That five hours or less category ... was almost not really heard of in 1942," Fioroni said. "There's almost nobody that said they slept five hours or less."

In modern American life, there also has been "this pervasive belief about how sleep was unnecessary — that it was this period of inactivity where little to nothing was actually happening and that took up time that could have been better used," said Joseph Dzierzewski, vice president for research and scientific affairs at the National Sleep Foundation.

It's only relatively recently that the importance of sleep to physical, mental and emotional health has started to percolate more in the general population, he said.

POLICE & FIRE

Trio arrested Wal-Mart disturbance

A trio of suspects were arrested shortly before 9:30 p.m. Sunday, April 14, by officers of the Bellefontaine Police Department following reports of harassment and stalking of employees and patrons at Wal-Mart, 2281 S. Main St. Justin White, 33, and Christina White, 38, both of Bellefontaine, and Jorrell Johnson, 20, of DeGraff, each were charged with menacing by stalking following an investigation.

Police were dispatched to the retail store on a report of the suspects yelling at and harassing customers and employees and were causing a disturbance.

Upon arrival, officers learned the three individuals had left in a pickup truck. Police were able to identify the truck and initiate a traffic stop in the 1200 block of south Main Street.

In interviews with witnesses and the victim, police were told the victim had been involved in a previous incident with two of the suspects.

That incident led to threats made over social media and eventually to the suspects showing up to the victim's place of employment and harassing her there. Officers also reviewed surveillance footage that showed the suspects causing issues and being confrontational inside the store.

Johnson and Justin were arrested and lodged in the Logan County Jail. Christina was issued a summons and released from the scene with an accompanying juvenile.

Woman arrested for fleeing scene of crash

Lindsay Walker, 38, of Bellefontaine, was arrested on a number of charges following an impaired-driving crash that occurred around 7 p.m., Sunday, April 14, in the area of north Detroit Street and Orchard Avenue.

Officers were dispatched to that location on report of a white Chevy pickup truck having crashed and a female driver fleeing the scene. Police caught up with Walker on foot and learned she had taken the license plate off of the vehicle prior to leaving the scene of the crash. Signs of intoxication were observed by officers, but Walker denied being drunk. She admitted to having consumed two alcoholic beverages.

Officers also learned that the license plate that had been removed from the truck did not match the vehicle.

Walker was charged with fictitious registration, not stopping after a crash, tampering with evidence, failure to control and operating a motor vehicle under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs. She was lodged in the Logan County Jail.

Indian Lake, Logan County chambers host business recovery workshop

BY THE EXAMINER STAFF

Representatives of the Indian Lake and Logan County chambers of commerce along with local business owner Jason Duff hosted a business recovery workshop earlier this week in the Indian Lake High School library.

Around 30 business owners and residents attended the workshop, which covered topics from how businesses handle disaster-related insurance claims to seeking available grants and lending opportunities and getting connected to other available resources in the wake of the March 14 tornado.

Duff, who owns storage facilities and other property destroyed by the tornado, said his impetus behind wanting to help with the meeting was out of concern for the coming "economic crisis" to the area and to help and connect fellow business owners.

Duff shared his recent experiences dealing with insurance agents, carriers and adjusters, saying he quickly realized he was underinsured based on the current costs to rebuild and repair property damage.

By a show of hands, more than half of the attendees were either uninsured or underinsured.

Duff said he has found dealing with insurance "frustrating" at times and passed along some tips to help navigate the process.

Try to get multiple estimates, he said, and hire reputable contractors who can communicate effectively with insurance adjusters.

Because fraud potential is high in disaster situations, "trust, but verify," the business owner cautioned. Representatives on hand from the Ohio Department of Insurance shared ways businesses can file complaints with their agency and other helpful tips when dealing with insurance companies.

Insurance complaints may be filed with the ODI online at <https://insurance.ohio.gov/about-us/complaint-center/file-a-consumer-complaint> or by calling (800) 686-1526. Insurance companies have 21 days to respond after a complaint is filed but often remedy the complaint more quickly, ODI officials said.

One audience member said she received a cancellation notice from her insurance carrier before her claim check arrived by mail. The ODI officials encouraged attendees to contact their agency in such cases, or if the insured don't receive timely payment for claims after all necessary paperwork has been filed.

ODI can also assist insured parties get "more lenient" terms when insurance companies try to enforce rebuilding and repair time limits in disasters situations.

If your insurance company recommends a specific contractor, their workmanship should be backed by the insurance company, the ODI representatives said.

Indian Lake and Logan County chamber heads, Amber Fagan and Ben Vollrath, respectively, shared information previously reported on by the Examiner about tornado relief emergency fund small business grants available via the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

Approximately $100,000 in grant funding has been or will be disbursed in two phases. Phase I, with about $70,000 of funding, was allocated last week.

Allocation for Phase II of the grants is scheduled to be determined April 27.

Although the deadline of the $5,000 grant applications was April 12 and there are now more applicants than funds available, businesses may still remit applications as funding will be determined based on need and not on a first-come, first-serve basis, Vollrath said.

Grant applications are available at <https://ohiochamber.com/wp-content/uploads/2024/04/Emergency-Fund-Grant-Application.pdf>.

Contact Amber Fagan at (937) 539-6348 or Ben Vollrath at (937) 578-3563 with questions concerning applications.

There was discussion at the meeting about whether Indian Lake-Logan County would receive a federal disaster declaration which would allow the Federal Emergency Management Agency to begin providing aid and resources to the area.

Fagan said she was told it was "not likely" the county would receive the declaration, but did not elaborate on her source at the meeting.

Dave Durnell, co-owner of RV Wholesalers, said based on his experience with FEMA in other disaster zones, disaster recovery here may be better and more efficient without the agency's help.

Vollrath confirmed via phone April 13 that the disaster declaration, though "still pending," does not appear likely at this point, according to two county officials he has spoken with.

The chamber head said even without the federal disaster declaration the Small Business Association could enter into an agreement with the state as soon as Friday, April 19, to begin helping impacted businesses with disaster loans.

Additional resources discussed were for property damage tax relief and grants available to restaurant and hospitality workers affected by the tornado.

Property owners impacted by the tornado may file an application with the Logan County Auditors Office for a valuation deduction for destroyed or damaged real property. Applications are available at https://dam.assets.ohio.gov/image/upload/tax.ohio.gov/forms/real_property/dte26-fi.pdf. Contact the auditor's office at (937) 599-7209 with questions.

The Hospitality Institute of Ohio established Hospitality Reserve (formerly Ohio Restaurant Employee Relief Fund) in 2020 to provide funding for restaurant, foodservice and hospitality employees whose incomes were dramatically affected by the pandemic and its related circumstances.

Hospitality workers may apply for grants up to $2,000 at HospitalityReserve.org.

The next business recovery workshop meeting is to be determined.

Dr. Leland Carl 'Pete' Zilles

Dr. Leland Carl "Pete" Zilles passed away on April 13, 2024, at the age of 87 in Bellefontaine, Ohio.

Pete was born on March 11, 1937, on his grandparents' farm in Riley Township, Sandusky County, Ohio, to the late Earl and Marian (Reed) Zilles.

Pete grew up on a dairy farm in Riley Township near Fremont where his family raised Brown Swiss cattle. They showed their cows at local, state, and national shows. Pete was very involved in 4-H and was even named 4-H Youth of the Year in 1954.

For the first six years of his education, Pete attended the Riley Center one room schoolhouse along with his older sister Janice. He and Janice would arrive early to school to put firewood in the stove so the building would be warm before classes began. There were eight grades in that one room, and three students total in Pete's class. After Riley Center, Pete attended Fremont Ross High School, graduating in 1955 with a class of more than 200 students. Pete rarely missed a gathering or reunion for the class of 1955 and was proud of his Fremont roots and upbringing.

After high school, Pete attended The Ohio State University where he began his studies in the College of Agriculture. He went on to advanced studies at the College of Veterinary Medicine and graduated with his Doctor of Veterinary Medicine in 1961. While at Ohio State, Pete was a member of the Alpha Zeta agricultural honor society and Omega Tau Sigma veterinary fraternity. He also participated in cross country, receiving the Freshman Sweater Award in 1955.

Pete met Joyce Ann (Titsch) Zilles, his future bridge partner and partner in life, in zoology class during his freshman year at Ohio State. Pete was a loving, supportive husband, and he and Joyce enjoyed 63 years of marriage filled with family, good friends, travel, golf, Ohio State football games in the Horseshoe, and of course, lots of cards! Trips to their house in Fairfield Glade, TN, and winters spent at Callaway Gardens, GA, were especially memorable.

Pete and Joyce were blessed with two wonderful children, Earl (Cathy) Zilles II and Sara (Matt) Stiffler; three grandchildren: Nicki (Craig) Poeppelman, Benjamin Stiffler, and William Stiffler; and four great-grandchildren: Lulu, Hutch, Ford, and Baker Poeppelman. Pete is also survived by his sisters Janice Sherer and Judith (David) Reed and sister-in-law Karen Bright. His many nieces and nephews brought him joy at family gatherings, especially if there was a pinocle game involved. Upon graduating from Ohio State, Pete and Joyce moved to Lincroft, NJ, where he was the farm veterinarian for Marlu Jersey Farm. They returned to Ohio two years later when they bought a veterinary practice in West Liberty, where they lived for more than 50 years. Known to many in the area simply as Doc, he was a large animal veterinarian in Logan and Champaign counties for 36 years, the majority of those years spent as a solo practitioner. He also served as a consultant to Ohio Feedlots from 2002-2007.

Pete appreciated the family farm and spent his career supporting farmers and caring for their livestock. Educating and helping to mentor the next generation of food animal veterinarians was also important to Pete. He served as an adjust professor with the Ohio State College of Veterinary Medicine and donated his practice to OSU Large Animal Services when he retired from private practice in 1999.

Pete was recognized for his contributions to his profession with The Ohio State University Veterinary Medicine Society Alumni Recognition Award in 2002 and the 2011 Cattleman of the Year Award by the Champaign County Cattleman's Association.

In 2001, Pete traveled to the United Kingdom for a month during the Foot-and-Mouth disease outbreak in that country. He toured the countryside inspecting cattle herds for the devastating disease, fortunately never having to condemn a herd. He received the Group Honor Award for Excellence from the U.S. Department of Agriculture for his service.

'Civil War' declares victory at the box office, toppling 'Godzilla x Kong'

BY LINDSEY BAHR
AP FILM WRITER

Alex Garland's provocative "Civil War" didn't only ignite the discourse. The film also inspired audiences to go to the cinemas this weekend where it surpassed expectations and earned $25.7 million in ticket sales in North America, according to studio estimates Sunday.

It's the biggest R-rated opening of the year to date and a record for A24, the studio behind films like "Everything Everywhere All At Once" and "The Iron Claw." "Civil War" also unseated "Godzilla x Kong" from its perch atop the box office. The titan movie from Warner Bros. had held the No. 1 spot for the past two weekends.

"Civil War," starring Kirsten Dunst, Wagner Moura and Cailee Spaeny as front-line journalists in the near future covering a devastating conflict in the U.S. and trying to make their way to Washington, D.C. The story, written by Garland, who is also the mind behind "Ex Machina" and "Annihilation," imagines a U.S. in which California and Texas have united against a president who has disbanded the FBI and given himself a third term.

Though entirely fictional, "Civil War" has been inspiring debates since the first trailer that have extended beyond the musings of film critics and traditional reviews. This weekend, The New York Times ran two opinion pieces related to the movie, one by Stephen Marche and another by Michelle Goldberg. There were also pieces on CNN and Politico.

Going into the weekend, projections pegged the film to debut in the $15 to $24 million range. The studio said "Civil War" overperformed in markets "from LA to El Paso." The data analytics company EntTelligence reported that the film has attracted over 1.7 million patrons this weekend and that the top three markets were Los Angeles, New York and Dallas.

"The title alone is enough to spark a conversation in a year where the political discourse is top of mind," said Paul Dergarabedian, the senior media analyst for Comscore. "And they couldn't have picked a better date. This movie is perfectly timed in a month that is very quiet."

The film opened on 3,838 screens in the U.S. and Canada, including IMAX. It's the most expensive movie that the studio has ever made, with a production budget of $50 million, which does not account for millions spent on marketing and promotion.

IMAX showings of "Civil War," which was playing on 400 of the large format screens, accounted for $4.2 million, or 16.5% of the domestic total.

Reviews have been largely positive. It's currently at 83% on Rotten Tomatoes, with a 77% audience score. Its CinemaScore was a B-, which has sometimes indicated that word of mouth might not be strong going forward. But that might not be the case with "Civil War," which doesn't have a tremendous amount of competition over the next few weeks until "The Fall Guy" opens on May 3.

"You have to take all the metrics together, including the competitive landscape," Dergarabedian said.

But it is a notable win for the studio, which doesn't always open films nationwide out of the gates. Before "Civil War," A24's biggest debut was the Ari Aster horror "Hereditary," which opened to $13.6 million in 2018.

"This isn't destined to be a $200 million global blockbuster. But it's a very high-profile win for A24," Dergarabedian said. "They're a studio that pushes the envelope. They're a brand associated with a certain level of quality and filmmaking expertise, pushing boundaries and taking risks. It's well-earned over the years."

Second place went to "Godzilla x Kong: The New Empire," which earned $15.5 million in its third weekend to bring its running domestic total to nearly $158 million. Another "Empire" movie, Sony's "Ghostbusters: Frozen Empire," took third place in its fourth weekend with $5.8 million. It's now at $160 million worldwide.

Rounding out the top five was Universal and DreamWorks' "Kung Fu Panda 4," in fourth with $5.5 million in weekend six, and "Dune: Part Two" with $4.3 million in its seventh weekend. "Dune 2" has now earned $272 million domestically.

This weekend also saw the box office year-to-date comparisons take a big hit. Last year, "The Super Mario Bros. Movie" brought in over $92 million in its second weekend in theaters. On the same weekend in 2023, the top 10 accounted for over $142 million, compared to this year's $68.4 million. The year to date is back down to 16% after seeing some recovery with the success of "Dune: Part Two."

"The box office has been a seesaw," Dergarabedian said. "But we all knew this was going to be a rough month for comps because of 'Mario.'"

ROYAL STARS | FROM KING FEATURES SYNDICATE By Georgia Nicols

MOON ALERT: There are no restrictions to shopping or important decisions today. The Moon is in Leo.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Tuesday, April 16, 2024. You are charming, witty and warm. You have a deep understanding of life and its challenges, which makes you sympathetic to others. This year is a fresh beginning for you, because you're starting a new nine-year cycle. Be courageous, flexible and open to new possibilities.

THE STARS SHOW THE KIND OF DAY YOU'LL HAVE: 5-Dynamic; 4-Positive; 3-Average; 2-So-so; 1-Difficult

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★★ Enjoy playful activities with kids, sports events, social outings and anything to do with the entertainment world or show business today. You want to have fun. It's a great day to socialize as well as explore romantic possibilities. Nevertheless, feelings are intense. Tonight: You've got this.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★ Keep a low profile today. If you can, work from home, behind the scenes or by yourself, because you need some solitude and a chance to get your ducks in a row. Nevertheless, you might feel competitive with someone or be involved in some physical sports or teamwork. Tonight: Solitude.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★ You're in your element today. If you can take a short trip or travel somewhere, by all means, do so. You feel curious about the world around you, which means you will enjoy meeting new faces and seeing new places. You also might be keen to persuade someone to your way of thinking. Tonight: Friendships.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★★ You're in a very strong position today. You're confident about your past or authority figures you haven't seen for a while (including parents) might help you, especially in financial matters. You might see ways to boost your earnings or get a better paying job. Tonight: Play!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★ You're empowered today, because the Moon is in your sign, which happens for two and a half days every month. When this occurs, although you are more emotional than usual, you are also luckier! Therefore, why not test this out? Ask the universe for a favor. (At least, a good parking spot.) Tonight: Explore!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★ Today you might choose to work alone or behind the scenes because it feels better. It's a good time to deal with red-tape issues related to insurance matters, inheritances, taxes, debt and shared property. Finish up ahead of time. You'll come out ahead. Tonight: Check your finances.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★ This is a lovely day to schmooze with others. In particular, you might enjoy a conversation with a female friend, colleague or a member of a group. At this time, you will attract friendly people to you, which is why your romantic chances are quite pleasing. Enjoy! Tonight: Socialize.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★ Admittedly, Mercury retrograde has been creating silly errors, glitches and delays in your world, especially at work. These delays also might relate to your health. Today, however, you're high-viz, which is why people notice you and seem to know personal details about your life. Tonight: Work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★ This is an adventurous day because psychologically, you want something to happen. Ideally, you might get a chance to travel or at least see a new neighborhood, encounter new faces and enjoy new places. It will also please you to learn something new. You want to expand your world. Tonight: Conversations!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★ Focus on practical matters today, especially debt and shared property. This also might include inheritances, taxes and insurance issues. Meanwhile, family reunions and contact with relatives you haven't seen for a while are likely. Enjoy redecorating and entertaining. Tonight: Relax.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★ Today the Moon is opposite your sign, as it is for two and a half days every month. When this occurs, you have to be more conciliatory and prepared to go more than halfway when dealing with others. It's no biggie. In two weeks, when the Moon is in your sign, people have to come to you. Tonight: Conversations!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★ Do what you can to get organized today. It will make you feel better. With Mars in your sign now, you certainly have the energy to do this. You also might enjoy buying beautiful things for yourself and for loved ones. Tonight: Check your belongings.

thanks to the Holland Theatre opening up their space to us and the community," Co-Director Myles Bowers said.

The show kicked off Friday evening, April 12, with the art display and also included the free concert featuring the nearly 70-member Logan County Honors Band directed by Guest Conductor Stephan Naylor of Wright State University. The art show also was open for public viewing Saturday afternoon, April 13, and Sunday afternoon, April 14.

"It was an enjoyable weekend for all, and it was well-attended," Bowers said.

"I had a lot of people express to me that they were thankful that it was open all weekend," Davis said. "One girl who stopped by Saturday had a Friday evening track meet, so her family was glad to be able to see her art on another day."

Rush Creek Art Studio kindly donated art supplies to be given as prizes for the Best of Show artists at the elementary, middle and high school levels.

The elementary winner was Indian Lake student Cheyenne Pender for her weaving; middle school winner was Calvary Christian student Kelaiah Hermiller for her graphite piece; and the high school winner was Maggie Reese from Indian Lake for her oil painting.

Davis, a Benjamin Logan High School art teacher, said each of the art teachers at the Logan County school buildings were able to select 10 student pieces for the art display. Next year, the hope is to double the entries for the show by also utilizing the front foyer area of the Holland Theatre for artwork as well.

Honors band members were selected by each band director around the county, noted Bowers, a Benjamin Logan music teacher and band director. The pupils rehearsed for about five hours during the school day Friday under Naylor's direction.

Six Hundred Downtown generously provided lunch for the honors band on rehearsal day.

"The students enjoyed dining together at the restaurant and had a wonderful day getting to meet musicians from other schools and performing together," Bowers said. "It was a great opportunity for them."

"Stephan Naylor, a native of Chicago, said he had a great time being in our town and enjoyed all of the hospitality here."

Six Hundred Downtown also gave a financial contribution to assist with costs of the art show.

The Powell Company based in Lima provided a financial contribution which covered the cost of hiring Naylor for the Honors Band Concert.

"Thank you to all of the Logan County community that attended the weekend's events," Davis said. "We look forward to celebrating the arts and the talented youth with you again in 2025."

In addition, LoCo Art is prepping for a Stress Less!

Camp, set for June 24-28.

The Stress Less programming was funded by United Way, Midwest Regional ESC, the Ohio Arts Council and Hess Lumber.

The camp will be for students in grades 5-12 and registration will open in early May at <https://locoartspot.com>.

Outdoor Power CDE team takes fourth place

Three Benjamin Logan FFA members Chase Miller, Peyton Henry and Colton Musser of Benjamin Logan FFA recently earned fourth place in the District 6 Outdoor Power CDE at Tri Rivers in Marion. The Outdoor Power CDE is a hands-on event where students perform various shop skills. In the contest, students had to complete a fuels and oil exercise, identify engine tools and parts, perform an dial caliper practicum, measure and find specifications for valve clearances, find engine specifications in manuals, and complete small engine troubleshooting station. "The competition was not only fun, but a great experience for all of us," Henry said. (BENJAMIN LOGAN PHOTO)
